

STOP DISCRIMINATION

Did you know that if you treat, act or speak negatively to or about someone only because that person has a disability, then you are discriminating against that person?

Did you know that if a business denies service to someone only because that person has a disability, then that business has committed an act of discrimination?

The Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities) Act, 2014, seeks to end discrimination against persons with disabilities in the areas of employment, housing, health care, transportation, education and training, sports, recreation, social amenities, voting, and accessibility to buildings, businesses and information/communication technologies.

For more information please contact the National Commission for Persons with Disabilities at 397-8603 or email disabilitiescommission@bahamas.gov.bs

This message is brought to you by
The National Commission
For Persons with Disabilities

Protecting Rights
Promoting Responsibility
Ensuring Accessibility
Advancing Equal Opportunities